

TIW Technology, Inc. Forms a Strategic Partnership With Document Management Service Provider WorldView Ltd.

The partnership will add document management capabilities to TIW's ALERE® Business Applications software.

Omaha, Neb. – Oct 23, 2008 – TIW Technology, Inc., a leading provider of accounting and manufacturing software, has partnered with document management service provider, WorldView Ltd. The partnership will compliment TIW's ALERE Accounting and Manufacturing software, with WorldView's Enterprise Content Management (ECM) solutions.

TIW, headquartered in Easton, PA, has provided accounting and manufacturing software across the United States, since 1983. WorldView will integrate their electronic document management solution with ALERE software, allowing clients to store, retrieve and manage documents securely without having separate platforms to manage. Additionally, WorldView's solution will assist their clients with compliance and regulatory requirements such as HIPAA, Sarbanes Oxley and ISO 9000.

"We've looked at Document Management solutions for our clients in the past and didn't really find a good fit. When we met with WorldView and explored the integration possibilities, we knew we had found a good solution for our clients. It provides complete Document Storage and Retrieval functionality that is affordable, because it is modular, and so customers only pay for what they need. This has always been our vision for providing software as well, so it's a good partnership," said Rod Hatcher, CEO & President of TIW Technology, Inc.

WorldView's comprehensive document management solution coupled with TIW's ALERE Accounting and Manufacturing software will provide new and existing clients with a best-in-class, modular based accounting and manufacturing solution, with optional ECM capabilities built in.

"WorldView is very excited about our new partnership with ALERE software. The combination of their accounting and manufacturing software with the enterprise content management functionality offered by WorldView is a great benefit for ALERE's clients," said Tom Hassenstab, WorldView President. "By adding our ECM functionality to ALERE's software, their clients can reduce costs, gain efficiencies and can start to move to a paperless environment. In today's market, most companies are looking at these types of initiatives."
